WHAT TO DO WHEN THERE ARE CONFLICTS WITH BAND, SPORTS, AND OTHER ACTIVITIES

The following excerpts are taken from the Penncrest Band Handbook:

- All performances, practices and activities are mandatory for all band members. In the event of a performance conflict that cannot be worked out, a written request to be excused is to be submitted one week prior to the event. This request will include the student's name, date in conflict, specific reason and parent signature. Late or incomplete requests will not be approved. Notification of approval or denial will be given to the student before the event. In emergency situations where a note is impossible, call the band office as soon as possible to let us know what happened, and bring in a written note afterwards. Unexcused absences from activities will result in no credit towards a band member's grade and shows a lack of commitment which can result in a reduced role with the ensemble, up to and including dismissal from the group.
- The following are acceptable requests for excusal: weddings, funerals, religious obligations, college visits that cannot be rescheduled, SAT tests, and illness or injury which prohibits student involvement. In all cases requests must specify the reason in order to be considered. In an emergency situation, notify the director by email or calling the office at 610-627-6325. The director, not student leaders, must be notified.
- Make every effort to avoid or solve conflicts before requesting to be absent. It is expected that every member understands their role and importance to the group and would not submit frivolous or vague requests that would have to be turned down. Flexibility is the key for all parties involved, and we should always seek a "win-win" solution to any conflict.

Band members who are unable to attend band camp in its entirety are not guaranteed a spot in the show. Inclusion in the halftime show will be determined by the amount of time missed, as well as how quickly the show can be learned by the band member.

The key to avoiding and working out conflicts is COMMUNICATION. Band members are expected to handle this responsibility and honor their commitments to all organizations of which they are a member. Giving as much advance notice as possible is a courtesy that you will offer to your activity directors. Do it as early as possible, and ask for excusals as seldom as possible!
